Cranea Mission Control recently made contact with an individual who wished to provide you with an anonymous letter. We're pretty confident in this informant, but of course you should always be wary of believing everything you hear or read. Not everybody who claims to represent Cranea is actually one of us, you know.

For your own security, we have uploaded this testimonial onto the Cranea server. Download it by entering testimonial ajjrgby.

Oh yeah, one more thing. We might have forgotten to mention how important it is to handle all evidence with utmost care. Be sure to collect fingerprint samples before you handle anything. But of course, you've probably been doing that all along. Anyway, good luck.
